NEW DELHI: The resources and agro business opportunities available in Gujarat attracted a lot of attention in the Food and Technology Expo that held at Pragati Maidan. The state highlighted its salient features and untapped resources available here in a very attractive manner.

The Gujarat Green Revolution Company Limited (GGRCL) has highlighted the projects and opportunities available in the state. Taking the objectives to implement uniform micro irrigation scheme in the state and to eliminate inequalities and anomalies coming in the projects, the GGRCL is promoting micro irrigation system (MIS). This program is likely to bring second green revolution in the state and then gradually in the entire country as well.

The organisation is claiming to provide several benefits under MIS such as crop yield enhancement, energy saving, health improvement, reduced labour cost, saving in irrigation water, equal distribution of water, increment in cropping area and many more. Overall, the organisation has tried to give an excellent overview of its achievements and future expectations to attract more investors and stakeholders towards the state.
